What to Expect at Christmas:

EQUANIMITY

During Christmas, families like to get together to enjoy eating food together, listen to music and take pictures by the tree.

EQUANIMITY

Family means mommy, daddy, sister, brother, grandmother, grandfather, uncle,
aunt, cousins and even the doggie.

EQUANIMITY

The people we will see this Christmas at dinner will include:

EQUANIMITY

We will be going to grandma Maria's house for our Christmas dinner on Friday
Dec 24th at 6:00 PM

EQUANIMITY

When we see our family it is always nice to say “Merry Christmas!” with a smile. Some people like to give a kiss on the cheek and a hug. This means we are happy to see them and they are happy to see us.

EQUANIMITY

Then we sit together in the living room and talk to each other. We also admire each other's clothes and hair. When someone gives you a compliment you say "thank you". This is a good way to be nice and polite.

EQUANIMITY

Then we set the table with food to sit down together for dinner. Everyone picks where they would like to sit and so can you. If someone is sitting in the spot you would like to sit you can ask them to switch with you by saying “can I please sit there” or “can you switch seats with me please?”

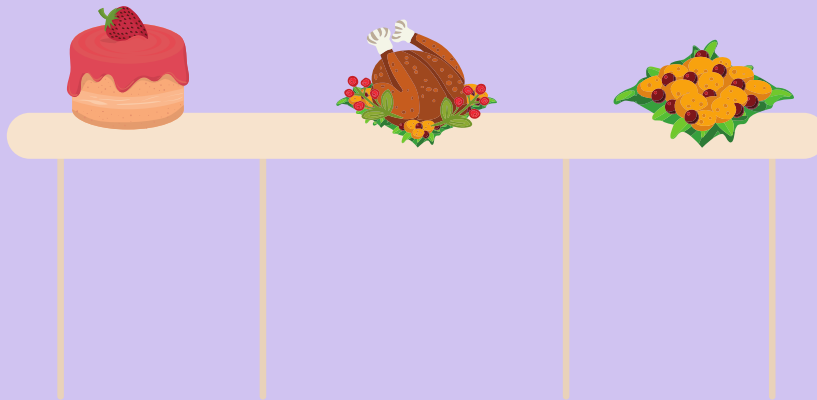

EQUANIMITY

At the table, there will be all types of foods that everyone likes. If there is something you do not want to eat you can say “no thank you”.

Do you want potatoes?

No, thank you.

EQUANIMITY

If you want to leave the table at any time during dinner you can say "I am all done" then you can stand up and put your plate in the sink.

EQUANIMITY

After dinner you can hang out and do anything you would like to include playing with your cousins, watching tv, playing with the dog, playing with your preferred items, etc.

EQUANIMITY

When it is time to leave we say good bye to everyone with a hug and a kiss and we go home.

Until next time!

Goodbye!
